CONFERENCE OF CENTRAL AMERICAN REPUBLICS SETTLES U. S. RELATIONS

Washington, Feb. 7.—The conference of Central American republics—the miniature Washington arms conference—came to an end here today with the signing, in open plenary session, of one treaty, eleven conventions and three protocols affecting the relations of the United States with Central America and those of the Central American republics among themselves.

With Secretary of State Hughes as chairman the conference has concluded a treaty of peace and amity, a convention for the establishment of a central American arbitration tribunal, a convention for the limitation of armaments, and numerous other agreements expected to prove of marked benefit to all concerned.

Under the terms of the agreement for the limitation of armaments, the various Central American countries bind themselves to limit their standing armies and national guard as follows:

Guatemala 5,200; Salvador 4,200; Honduras 2,500; Nicaragua 2,500; and Costa Rica 2,000.

This limitation is to continue in force for five years.

The contracting powers further

agree not to export or permit the exportation of arms or munitions or any other kind of military stores from one central American republic to another; to limit the number of aircraft which can be used in time of war to ten; and agree to acquire no warships.

Finally the contracting powers agree to furnish one another, semi-annually, during the life of the convention, full reports on the measures adopted by each government for the execution of the convention.

The general treaty of peace and amity approved by the conference, incorporates those provisions of the

CONFERENCE OF SMALL NATIONS MORAL LESSON

Limitation Meet of Central American Powers Praised By Hughes.

EXAMPLE TO WORLD

Secretary of State Delivers Address at Closing of Peace Conference

Washington, Feb. 7.—In agreeing to limit their armies and to settle their disputes by peaceful conference instead of by resort to force, the five republics of Central America have furnished a moral lesson to the world. Secretary of State Hughes declared here today in an address at the closing session of the Central American conference.

"You have furnished an agreeable and helpful example of the advantages of conference," said Hughes, "provided always that it is dominated by a firm determination to find the solutions of amity, and is animated by belief that these will better serve the aims of security and progress than any possible strife."

Secretary Hughes congratulated the delegates upon the success of their efforts to remove causes for possible wars, and told them that "the friendly assistance of the United States is always at their command."

"You have no serious questions which should vex your peaceful relations," continued Hughes. "Of the boundary disputes you have now arranged to submit the last to friendly arbitration. You have development, progress and utmost prosperity almost within your grasp. You have taken here wise precautions against destructive and pernicious influences."

"We in the United States, shall rejoice in the vigor of your national life; in the development of your republics. We desire your peace, your tranquility, just pride and satisfaction which will come to each of your republics from unimpaired integrity."

WOMEN PRISONERS ON HUNGER STRIKE

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Two women prisoners in the county jail here are on hunger strike in protest against their imprisonment. They are Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards of Solvay and Mrs. Julie Chapwreck of Syracuse. Mrs. Edwards is under indictment charged with imperiling the lives of her six children by turning on the gas while she and the children were at home. The authorities say she was attempting suicide. She has refused to eat since Saturday, when she was sent to jail in default of $5,000 bail. Mrs. Chapwreck is held because of failure or inability to pay a $600 fine imposed on her for a violation of the state prohibition enforcement act.

NEW CANAL ACROSS Isthmus of Panama NOW BEING FAVORED

Profits from Panama Canal May Be Used to Construct New Waterway.

Washington, Feb. 7.—A white house statement disclosed that the administration favors application of the profits accruing from operation of the Panama canal to the construction of new interoceanic waterway.

The question was discussed at a cabinet meeting, it was said.

Impetus was given to the discussion by Secretary Weeks' explanation to his cabinet colleagues of the striking increase in traffic through the canal last month, when the records show a 50 per cent greater movement than a year ago. Canal tolls collections mounted, the cabinet was told, until there is a steadily increasing monthly balance above cost of operation. Presumably it was this fact which brought out the administration's desire that canal profits go toward construction of a new canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Such comment as was available in cabinet circles favored the Nicaraguan canal route, if a new canal project was to be put forward. The least costly method of increasing the traffic capacity from ocean to ocean, it was pointed out at the war department, would be to double the lock facilities of the Panama canal, but it was added that both from a military point of view as to defensibility, and because it would shorten the trip from coast to coast by some five days, the Nicaraguan route appeared most desirable.

In Nicaraguan circles here it was said nothing of a definite nature as to a new canal project had been heard. It was added, however, that canal rights already granted to the United States by that country were valid and that the conflicting interests of Costa Rica as to San Juan river, along the route, and Fonseca bay, already had been worked out in direct negotiations between Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

ITALY APPROVES ARMAMENT PACTS FINALLY BY VOTE

Rome, Feb. 7.—The Italian chamber of deputies gave its approval to the Washington conference treaties, which will be formally ratified this afternoon by secret ballot.

Approval was given after Premier Mussolini had spoken in favor of the conventions.

During the debate on the Washington treaties some of the deputies spoke in favor of a general reduction in armament, while others advanced the theory that Italy should be prepared for all eventualities. The Socialists supported disarmament, while the Fascisti deputy, Giunta, declared Italy required naval preparedness.

Premier Mussolini declared that he did not wish to waste time in discussing whether the late war was the last war, or only the last war but one. Journalists from all quarters of the globe, he added, had proclaimed that the Washington conference would result in perpetual peace, but the actual results had been quite different: "I don't believe in perpetual peace," exclaimed Mussolini.

RESCUE PARTY IS BAFFLED BY SNOW

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 7.—Baffled yesterday when blinding snow forced a flyer down at Grayling, Seifridge field airmen today started another plane to the aid of an injured lumberjack 250 miles away on Beaver Island, in Lake Michigan, near Charlevoix. The lumberjack, Jesse Cole, crashed under runaway logs, will probably die, unless medical aid reaches him quickly. No physician can reach Beaver Island except by airplane, as the heavy ice floes make boat traffic impossible.

CONGRESS NOT IN FAVOR OF RED RAIDS NOW HELD

SENATOR ATTACKS ACTS OF DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AGENTS

WALSH FLAYS PLAN

SOLON SAYS REPORT IS WARNING NOT TO REPEAT ILLEGAL RAIDS

Washington, Feb. 7.—A warning that congress will look with extreme disfavor upon any repetition by the department of justice of the now famous wholesale "red raids" by former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer during the winter of 1920 was sounded today by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana.

Walsh submitted to the senate a report by a sub committee of the judiciary committee sharply attacking the department of justice for illegal practices in conducting the raids. The report is signed by Senators Borah, Norris and Ashurst, in addition to Walsh.

"This report," Walsh said today, "is a warning, a warrant, to the department that hereafter congress will regard as an impeachable offense any use of such high handed tactics as used during the 1920 raids."

Not only was the department without authority to make arrests in deportation in raids but by acts of congress this was solely up to the department of labor, but Walsh added:

"From the standpoint of an enlightened humanity it is unfair to speak of the affair as an unmotivated outrage."

Purely aside from any legal or humanitarian consideration, Walsh said he did not believe any series of wholesale raids can effectively wipe out, or check, radical tendencies within the United States or any other country.

"I am skeptical about the claim that the subsidence of the radical activities is attributable to these lawless raids," he said, "particularly as the same change is noticeable all over Europe."

"At the time of the raids there was a general belief that bolshevism was about to over run Europe and to engulf America. If Europe ever was alarmed at the prospect of being over run by the arms or the ideas of Russia, it has fully recovered its normal state; if there ever prevailed any general idea that the people of Europe were about to embrace bolshevism, it has been dissipated.

"It is only in such times that the guarantees of the constitution as to the protection of individual rights are of any practical value," said the Walsh report.

"In seasons of calm no one thinks of denying them; they are accorded as a matter of course. It is rare except when the public mind is stirred by some overwhelming catastrophe or is aghast at some hideous crime, or otherwise overwrought, that one is required to appeal to his constitutional rights."

"If, in such times the constitution is not a shield the encomiums which statesmen and jurists have paid it are fustian."

Military leaders accompanied the civilian and official group. They were Major General Charles Farnsworth, chief of infantry of the U. S. Army, and his aid, Captain R. L. Shoemaker. They were accompanied by J. Rodger Cohen, of Augusta, commander of the American legion for Georgia. Lieutenant Colonel T. L. Huston, of New York, national commander of the veterans of foreign wars, also was present.

The question was discussed at a cabinet meeting, it was said.

Impetus was given to the discussion by Secretary Weeks' explanation to his cabinet colleagues of the striking increase in traffic through the canal last month, when the records show a 50 per cent greater movement than a year ago. ## ISMET BELIEVES NEGOTIATIONS TO BE RENEWED

Turk to Return to Lausanne In Month and Treaty May Be Signed

BRITISH "SIT TIGHT"
GREEK DELEGATES LEAVE FOR GERMANY AND RUSSIA TO REPORT

Lausanne, Feb. 7.—The Turkish and Russian delegations in the Near East peace conference, headed respectively by Ismet Pasha and George Tchitcherine, departed today. The treaty is still unsigned and there are no indications that it will be in the immediate future.

That Ismet believes the negotiations will be renewed was indicated by a statement he made just before he boarded the train at 6:40 o'clock.

"I do not consider that the peace conference is ended," said Ismet, "I am awaiting myself of this opportunity to go to Angora to report to my government. The future course of development is up to the Angora assembly."

Ismet Pasha said he expected to return to Lausanne in three or four weeks, indicating that it would be a month before the treaty is signed, if it is signed at all. Ismet expects to reach Angora Saturday or Sunday and will at once report to the cabinet and the national assembly. The assembly will then decide whether or not to accept the allies' terms with the new modifications that have been proposed.

The British cabinet is expected to "sit tight" until Angora makes a decision one way or another.

The British representative in Lausanne was instructed to see Ismet and ask him what terms Angora was likely to demand, but was told that this was entirely up to the national assembly and that no one could speak in advance for that body.

Much annoyance was caused by false reports on Tuesday that France had not told Great Britain that the Turks were ready to sign. There was another report that the Turks had postponed their departure until Saturday in hope the negotiations would be re-opened in the meantime. Ismet Pasha said he did not know the source of these rumors and that no such "information" had come from him.

Angora's order for foreign war ships to leave Smyrna is causing much apprehension lest the Turkish government is preparing for war. Mustapha Kemal Pasha is understood to be in Angora.

Ismet refused to send to Great Britain a written pledge that Turkey would accept the treaty without additional discussions.

Tchitcherine said he would remain only one day in Berlin and then proceed to Moscow to report to the Russian government.

PROMINENT MEN AND DRY OFFICERS HELD FOR BOOTLEGGING

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 7.—Five men prominent in western Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., were indicted by a federal grand jury here today on a charge of conspiracy in connection with bootlegging activities in this city. Federal warrants will immediately be issued and served. Those indicted were:

Adelbert D. Sumner, attorney, Washington, D. C.

Vincent Schonhardt, Johnstown, Pa., connected with Genners Brewery Somerset, Pa.

Maurice P. McGrath, former prohibition enforcement division Pittsburgh and Johnstown, Pa.

Orvil R. Stifler, former group chief prohibition enforcement division Pittsburgh and Johnstown, Pa.

John H. Dailey, former Pittsburgh councilman, and present county mercantile appraiser.

MRS. STILLMAN TO ENTER BUSINESS

New York, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, wife of James A. Stillman, is going into the millinery business. She will open a wholesale establishment in this city, backed by her own money. She said today that she was not going into business to be independent of her husband, who lost his divorce suit against her, but that it was a "pet idea" she had for fifteen years, and she was confident she could make it a success.

Supreme court Judge Morschauser yesterday declined to grant Mrs. Stillman an injunction of $33,000 alimony. She is now receiving $90,000 a year from her husband.

CELESTIAL WINE DROPPED IN OCEAN

New York, Feb. 7.—Not a single mourning celestial graced the tug which today bore 50,000 bottles of Chinese "medicinal" wine to a watery grave 30 miles out at sea.

The liquor, containing 40 per cent alcohol, was recently seized by customs officers aboard a vessel in the port and the order to destroy it came in accordance with a federal court ruling that it was really sent here for beverage purposes.

Why the rite of "committing these cases to the deep" was performed so far from shore was explained by Thomas W. Whittle, surveyor of the port.

"We took 30 miles to sea in order that the contraband cargo might be dropped to the bottom of the ocean in the original packages," he declared. "There's little chance of any one recovering it that far out."

ROTARIANS ENJOY INFORMAL MEETING AT ELK'S TUESDAY

An informal meeting, combining a social time, with business, short talks, and discussion of local, national and international affairs, followed the regular club dinner at the Elk's Tuesday night.

Judge R. L. Gowdy, chairman of the program, presided over the meeting, each member of the club introducing the member seated at his left and many impromptu speeches occasioning merriment, featuring the introductions. During the business meeting which followed plans were made to send a representative from the local club to the St. Louis, Mo., convention, next June. The club secretary furnished the club with rates and other details of the convention.

In a five minute talk at the close of the meeting, Judge Gowdy discussed current events of the past months, touching upon the Lausanne conference, and other European affairs, bringing about a resume of local events, and closed with a tribute to the late W. C. Hutchison, citing his life and principles as exemplifying the Rotary spirit. Rotary songs, and a social time closed the meeting.

Sadie J. Alexander

Sadie J. Alexander, daughter of Eber and Mary Jane Compton, was born June 15, 1880, died February 2, 1923, age 62 years, 7 months and 17 days.

She was united in marriage to Charles F. Alexander, February 2, 1882. To this union were born six children, one of whom died when but a little over a year old. The children that remain to mourn their loss are: Lawrence on the home farm; Mrs. W. W. Trout of Springfield, Ohio; Mrs. Joshua Inwood and Mrs. John Peterson both of Spring Valley, and Mary of Xenia, Ohio.

Sister Alexander united with the M. E. Church at Spring Valley 22 years ago under the pastorate of Rev. Philip Trout and remained a faithful member until transferred to the Church Triumphant.

She enjoyed the services of the church and rejoiced in its prosperity. She was a member of the Ladies Aid Society.

She was solicitous for the welfare of others. Loved her family, and home and flowers most dearly. She was always happy to have the children come home.

Besides her children, she leaves one sister, Mrs. M. F. Beal of Xenia, and three brothers: Wm. and Ambrose Compton of Xenia, and Clifford Compton of Spring Valley, ten grand children, many other relatives, and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

We are encouraged to believe that although translated our loved ones are still solicitous for our welfare. Heaven may be nearer to earth and our translated loved ones closer to us than we think. There is but a narrow vale between.

The hope that we shall meet our loved ones again takes away the recollections of the past, and mitigates the pain of separation.

"And so beside the silent sea
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm can come to me
On ocean or on shore."

I know not where His islands lift
Their fronded palms in air,
I only know I can not drift
Beyond his love and care."

FAMOUS AUTOS WIN AGAIN
By Wones

The powerful Famous Autos of this city won another game Tuesday night at the new high school gym when they engaged the sturdy N. C. R. Tigers of Dayton in a fast exhibition of the court game. The final score was 22 to 15.

The N. C. R. boys threw a scare into the locals in the opening period and hung right on to the heels of Coach Haller's lads so that when the half ended the Autos were holding a slender three point lead the score being 11 to 8. The Famous uncovered a passwork that was pleasing to see.

Each man seemed to know his place and seldom missed being there at the right time. The locals got their offense and defense working like a well oiled machine in the second period of the evening's pastime and the result was that they scored 21 points while the best the cash outfit could get was 7.

Barlow started the scoring for the locals after several minutes when he caged one from the field. He also tossed one in from the free throw line and followed up with a long one. The visitors broke through with one at this time when Davis snagged one from the field which was of the sensational kind. Mark came right back and tossed another one for the locals and duplicated this one after he took a pass from Solowitz. Brown tossed a foul and Broadstone turned in a long one, Davis counted with another long one and a foul Solowitz threw a beautiful fielder from the center of the floor and the period ended a few seconds later.

In the second half Soliman replaced Koester at center. Barlow again started things going for the Autos with another one from the field. Soliman dropped two fouls through and Barlow looped another one. Broadstone grabbed the ball at this time and sent it spinning into the net and L. Blicher also counted one. Soliman tossed another foul and a field goal while Mark came through with one. Soliman made two in rapid succession, R. Blicher turned one in for the visitors. Brown got a foul goal while Barlow garnered another and Solowitz turned in a long one. Barlow made a neat ringer from underneath the basket and this ended the scoring.

Barlow and Soliman were the stars for the Autos while the guarding of Solowitz and Koehly was high class. Davis and Brown were the high men for the N. C. R. bunch. Pooch, former Stivers high star, played a good floor game. Next week the locals will probably play the Dayton Red Wings at the high school gym. There will be two fast preliminaries. ## HARDING ASKS CONGRESS TO APPROVE DEBT SETTLEMENT AND TO ACT ON SHIPSUBSIDY

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Harding asked congress today to approve the settlement that has been concluded on the British debt of $4,600,000,000, and coupled with his request an ardent plea for action on the ship subsidy bill, which has been held up in the senate for several months, and will follow up his message with personal interview with senators to urge an early vote.

Overriding his physicians' objections against a personal appearance before congress while convalescing from a severe cold, Mr. Harding went in person to the capitol and read his message to the assembled house and senate, seeking to drive home his arguments in person rather than submit them to the colorless recital of a reading clerk.

The president's message was one of the shortest he has ever delivered to congress. It was brief and business like. He read the terms of the settlement agreed upon, and then left to congressional discretion the manner in which it would be ratified—either by resolution or by amending the present debt funding law.

Coupled with his plea for speedy action was a warning against tacking on any "riders" which will seek to dispose of the money which Great Britain will annually pay the United States—in effect, a warning to the advocates of a soldiers bonus against seeking to tie up the funds in advance.

"I am not unmindful," said the president, "of the disposition to pledge the application of anticipated payments in giving sanction to settlement. It is not necessary to remind congress that the use of moneys secured in repayments of war loans has been pledged by the very grant of authority making the loans," the retirement of liberty bonds.

"Of course," he continued, "the repeal of that commitment is always within the authority of congress, if such a repeal is considered wise." The president expressed his opinion, however, that it would be better to ratify the agreement forthwith, with no strings attached.

Unstinted praise was accorded Great Britain for the businesslike manner in which she has recognized her obligation to repay the United States.

ATTEMPT TO REVIVE INTEREST IN C. OF C. TO BE MADE AT ONCE

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Harding asked congress today to approve the settlement that has been concluded on the British debt of $4,600,000,000, and coupled with his request an ardent plea for action on the ship subsidy bill, which has been held up in the senate for several months, and will follow up his message with personal interview with senators to urge an early vote.

It is understood President Harding will incorporate in his debt message a final appeal to congress to enact the ship subsidy bill, which has been held up in the senate for several months, and will follow up his message with personal interview with senators to urge an early vote.

On an intensive canvass of Xenia business men to determine sentiment regarding the Chamber of Commerce, rests the future of that organization.

Volunteering to give time to the effort for several days Oliver Belden was authorized to canvass the situation for a commercial organization here at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night which made up in interest what it lacked in numbers.

Beginning his work Thursday morning, Mr. Belden will conduct a thorough canvass of Xenia's commercial and industrial interests to determine if sentiment here will favor a revival and rejuvenation of the Chamber of Commerce as advocated at the meeting Tuesday night and will submit his report to a similar meeting to be held at the organization rooms next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

If Xenia business men show the same sort of sentiment as exhibited at Tuesday night's meeting of keeping the organization alive and making it a real factor in civic affairs here, an entire re-organization of the Chamber and a probable change of quarters will be advocated at once.

It is the sentiment as expressed to Mr. Belden during his canvass of the situation is adverse to continuing the organization, the board of directors is prepared to close the organization February 15, and the association will pass into history.

Although 150 cards of invitations to members and former members urging them to bring other interested people to the meeting were sent out last week, only a mere handful responded to the invitation. Several of these were business men who are not now members of the Chamber but who are anxious to see that it survives and who pledged their support to any movement that will keep the organization alive.

It is a sad commentary on Xenia's business interests if the Chamber of Commerce is permitted to expire from lack of interest at the time when one of its most important achievements is being brought home to members," said one member at Tuesday night's meeting. "I refer to the announcement that The Ohio Bell Telephone Company is preparing to refund $8,657 to subscribers in the Xenia area which brings to a successful climax the fight for reduced rates waged by the Chamber of Commerce and the city. The Chamber of Commerce immediately protested this rate increase and engaged an attorney, paying him considerable in fees, that this refund might be obtained. I believe it is one of the most striking examples of the success of the Chamber of Commerce."

Other interested people attending the meeting argued against tacking another failure of Xenia's commercial organization history, now marked by many efforts to organize a permanent association for business interests, which eventually failed. These failures constitute black marks on the reputation of Xenia's business, it was pointed out by some, who referred to publicity scoring the movement to abandon the Chamber of Commerce, which had reached as far as Cleveland newspapers last week and was widely copied during the last week.

Under temporary plan devised, dues will be raised from the present $10 a year to sum to $15 a year, a move necessary to give the organization operating expenses. Members who are paid up until September 1, 1923, will be credited with a half-year membership, and the fiscal year will be changed from September 1, to February 15. Paid-up members will only have to pay $7.50 to be credited for the full year, however, and it was conditioned that no dues would be paid until Mr. Belden can give assurance following his survey, that there will be sufficient interested people to furnish the organization a membership and an adequate income. The meeting Tuesday was presided over by President Karl Bloom.

POLICE MASK PLANS IN INVESTIGATION OF TAYLOR MURDER

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—A close mask of secrecy today surrounded operations of local police and agents of the department of justice co-operating in a new probe of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, famous motion picture director shot to death just a year ago.

That the impenetrable mystery which has surrounded the case since the body of Taylor was found lying on the floor of his home will soon be lifted and an arrest made in the case, seemed certain, it was learned, although officers refused to discuss reports that plans were being made to effect the arrest.

JAMES TAKEN TO LIMA.

Sheriff Morris Sharp went to Lima Tuesday, escorting William James, colored, whom he turned over to authorities at the Lima Hospital for the Criminal Insane. James was sentenced by Probate Judge Marshall after he had been indicted for assault with intent to rob.

Authorities say that loot taken by Walter Bangham and Louis Vandervoort, who is also held on a murder charge, was hidden by Charles Bangham although he knew it was stolen property.

More of the loot taken by the youths in their series of robberies has been uncovered at the Bangham home, it is said.

Although there are no new developments in history of the now-famous Vandervoort case, there are rumors emanating from Wilmington, where the boys are held, that they will plead guilty to the charges against them and throw themselves on the mercy of the court.

FRANCE'S HARD JOB IN GERMANY.

Confusion of purpose and action is working havoc with the relations of France and Germany, and therefore it is working havoc with the peace of Europe. The French occupation of the Ruhr region is marked by increasing confusion because of conflicts between French and civil authorities, as well as conflicts with the German national and local authorities and with industrial leaders. The end of the chaotic conditions now developing is not easy to foresee, but it is at least certain that the end will be unfortunate. France is employing military force and such military methods as martial law and courts-martial in an effort to compel the Germans to exercise genuine co-operation in industrial activities. It is not in human nature to work wholeheartedly under compulsion. The basic idea of the French government in employing force to compel German workers on German soil to extract coal for France is a mistake which rebounds with violent and disastrous effect upon France as well as upon Germany. It is an attempt to run counter to the dictates of human nature. Only in slavery or in war can men in large numbers be compelled to work involuntarily; and even in war civilized nations will not compel prisoners to work against their own country.

BY WORK ONLY CAN YOU "GET THERE."

Vice President Coolidge thinks it is a great mistake to suppose that under some form of government or in some advanced state of civilization people can exist without effort and live wholly at ease. He says: "The opposite conclusion would be more nearly correct. It requires less intelligence, less skillful effort to live among a tribe of savages than to maintain existence under the average condition of modern society. Independence, liberty, civilization are hard to bear. It is not sloth and ease, but work and achievement which are the ideals of today. Self-control is arduous; self-government is difficult. Always there is the temptation that some element of these should be surrendered in exchange for security and ease. The appeal to passion and prejudice always lies in this direction. The proposal to despoil others of their possessions is a manifestation of the same spirit. This is the reason that to certain of our native born and more often to our foreign born the American republic proves a disappointment. They thought that self-government meant the absence of all restraint; that independence meant living without work, and that freedom was the privilege of doing what they wanted to do."

HAS JUST RIDDEN 2,000 MILES IN EUROPEAN AIR.

Grover C. Loening, President of the Loening Aeronautical Engineering Corporation, New York, after a tour of Europe, is convinced that America leads the world in aviation. From this sweeping assertion he excepts not even France, which heads all nations in military planes. Mr. Loening has just completed a 2,000-mile aerial circuit of Europe. He used practically every kind of flying machine, from the latest Fokker to the London-to-Paris Handley-Paige. In his early thirties, Mr. Loening is engaged chiefly in manufacturing marine airplanes for the United States navy. "Europe leads in air subsidies," declared Mr. Loening, "commercially subsidized air lines being unknown in America; but I am not sure America is not better off with the impetus of ordinary competition. From a military standpoint, our army aviation, though not so large as that of France, is equal in technical detail. In naval aviation we are way ahead, especially in torpedo planes and shipboard airplanes, which are being specially developed by engineers in the navy."

OUR "AMERICANIZED" INDIANS.

Indians are no longer a vanishing race. They are beginning to come back as they adopt the ways of civilization. America now has about 341,000 Indians, an increase of 13,500 in ten years. The Indians were inured to the open air and hardships, and succumbed to civilization, and still the longevity and health of modern man surpass those of the ancient days. Sanitation and science were practically unknown to them. They survived only through their hardiness, physical strength, exercise, and abundance of fresh air. The primitive age is gone, and the Indian has adapted his customs to those of the ruling race, and with all the benefits of modern progress the descendants of the original Americans should gain in numbers. But the genuine Indian is practically extinct. He has been or is being Americanized just as are the immigrants, and is becoming a product of the huge melting pot. There are 66,000 Indian children in schools learning how to be good citizens of the United States. But when they look at America today, with its tremendous wealth, its world vision, must they not regret the lost opportunities. Or would they prefer the wild, freedom of the past?

Vital questions will come up for consideration relative to the coming elections at the next meeting of the Republican Central Committee. ### GLOSSY NAILS

It is not vanity but common sense to keep the nails well polished. The friction of the buffer over the nail stimulates the circulation of the blood bringing a fresh supply to nourish and rejuvenate the nail. The only way in which polishing the nails could be harmful would be when polishing powder is used. This, of course, is necessary when the nails are done only once a week or so, but if they are rubbed for a few moments every day I do not think they will need this extra help. Polishing powders are invariably drying though their use once is necessary when the nails are done if you use oil when you manicure.

THE GIVER.

The poor man gives his hard-earned cash to buy the poorer fellow's hash. His bottom plumb he splits with glee to buy some kid a Christmas tree; he backs up all who pass the hat, he gives for this, he gives for that; and if his gift is but a dime, he hands it out with pep sublime. And oft he sighs, in longing tones, "I wish I had a million bones! I know so many places where a bale of wealth would drive out care. If I were rich and wearing bells, I'd circulate where famine dwells, I'd feed the poor and bring the sick the kind of dope that heals them quick. Wherever hunger rears its head you'd see me packing pies and bread. But I am poor, and all I earn I need to make the homes fires burn. I give a quarter or a dime, and feel such charity's a crime. If I were rich how I would give to people who in squalor live!" Sometimes the poor man quits his toil; his back yard has a well of oil. He buys a gorgeous limousine and banks a bundle of long green. Then he grows cautious in a day; it's sinful, giving wealth away. The poor, if pauperized, grow worse, and charity becomes a curse. Moreover, taxes are a fright; assessors gobble all in sight; the rich are soaked in every way, and bear the burden of the day. "And yet again," this rich man yells, "I need my cash to buy oil wells."

Today's Talk

THE EVERYWHERE EYE

Error, inefficiency, useless waste, carelessness—these are things that the Everywhere Eye never misses.

You may think what you neglect today may never be discovered, or that it will never matter anyway, but remember this—that the Everywhere Eye never misses.

And it lives forever!

The world has recently been thrilled by works of art performed several thousands of years ago by those who formed the ancient civilizations.

How well they wrought! Time has dimmed but a trifle the intricate pains and efforts that went into their work.

No matter what you do, no matter where you are, the Everywhere Eye shall follow. Do not boast to yourself that it shall not.

There is an old mythological saying that "the gods see everywhere." This conscious feeling of the all-seeing eye must have been a part of the thought of the earliest worker.

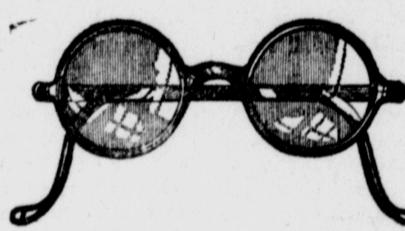

At any rate, sooner or later, the task that you slight shall be revealed to the jury of the world.

Work as though you knew that the Everywhere Eye looked right over you at all times. Keep it as your aim to satisfy yourself. Then, no matter what you do, you will have given to the world honest expression.

A workman called at a dealer's store for a certain material that he had to have to complete a job for a client.

He found difficulty in getting the best quality. "Oh, take that (an inferior material)," said the dealer: "he will never know." "No," replied the workman, "he probably will not know—but I will."

Remember the Everywhere Eye!

WHEN your eyes trouble you, you may wonder why. Let us examine them; we will tell you what the trouble is and how it can be relieved. That is all we do—examine eyes, and when needed, furnish glasses.

Lecture Number Please

The fourth number of the lecture course sponsored by the High School was given on Friday evening at the Opera House, by Elwood T. Bailey, the noted lecturer. But only three were successful and filled in. The one who failed was Benedict Arnold. Among other suggestions he stressed the fact, that both parents and teachers should continuously impress upon the youth the importance of building a splendid character in every respect. He gave as the three outstanding principles that everyone should possess. They are "Confidence, Loyalty and Human Love." His address was brim full of thoughts which will elevate and uplift and was well received by an appreciative audience. The high school orchestra furnished music as a prelude to the entertainment.

BROADSTONE FLAYS OPPONENTS OF KLAN BILL IN ARGUMENTS

Representative M. A. Broadstone, of Xenia, scored a point in the Harding anti-Ku Klux Klan bill which was defeated by a vote of 26 to 81 in the lower branch of the Assembly, Tuesday.

The house emphatically declared against the state attempting to regulate activities of the Klan within its borders in defeating the bill. The bill was proposed by Representative Harding, Republican of Warren County, requiring secret organizations other than those organized for purely social purposes, to file a list of their officers, with the secretary of state, and to keep a roster of their members, open for official inspection.

The chief contention of opponents was that it would unnecessarily burden such secret organizations as the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Elks, Knights of Columbus, by requiring them also to comply with the provisions of the measure, and that there are now sufficient laws already in operation to curb the activities of any organization which becomes non-law abiding.

Representatives Ramey, Republican of Lucas County, ridiculed the bill, asserting "that it would stir up religious bigotry, instead of allaying it, and that under its exemptions the 'rich bootlegging societies' could revel as they pleased without being punished." He asserted that he was not a member of the Klan.

Rep. Broadstone, asserting that Ramey had told members of the judiciary committee which recommended the bill for passage that he would like to join the Ku Klux Klan, declared that if Ramey "wants to join the organization let him resign from the legislature," as it would be inconsistent for him to be a member of a body which makes laws for all to obey and at the same time, belong to a secret organization which believed in enforcing laws itself."

REVIVE SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF TAYLOR

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 7.—With an arrest imminent, and with new and astounding information in their hands Los Angeles police and agents of the department of justice today renewed their probe of the year old William Desmond Taylor murder mystery and there were strong indications the slayer would be caught.

Following two definite lines of investigation the officers, who have worked on the case since Taylor was killed in his Alvarado street home, Feb. 21, 1922, have unearthed new information which throws a new light on the motive for the slaying.

While detectives here declined to discuss the report they had located a person wanted in connection with the slaying, it was reliably reported that plans were being formulated to effect an arrest.

A mass of information has been furnished Los Angeles officers from a northern city by underworld informants including a former narcotic peddler, causing department of justice agents to redouble their efforts to learn the identity of one of Taylor's associates known to have been at his home the slaying.

Styles

BY LENORE

A successful frock, the kind that ranks high for about town wear, is here achieved with dark blue gingham. You will notice that its serenity is relieved by stitching which is done in vivid blue. The slim belt encircles the figure at the normal waistline, and the long sleeve ends in a shaped cuff of the same material. This, too, is stitched in blue.

This is the kind of frock which will take kindly to a bandanna "neckerchief" tied jauntily over one shoulder—providing, of course, that such abandon suits your style. It is, of course, chiefly a flapper idea.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent Lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys—the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

O. T. Smith, retired railroad man, 516 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "I had no end of kidney trouble and suffered a great deal with lumbago. Sharp, piercing pains shot through the small of my back and I could hardly straighten after stooping. Colds settled on my kidneys, leaving them extremely weak and irregular in action. Nights I got up four or five times to pass the secretions which were highly colored and contained a sediment like brick dust. Doan's Kidney Pills had been so highly recommended that I got some. Several boxes relieved me of those terrible pains in my back and my kidneys were put in a normal condition."

W.C.T.U. ACTIVITIES WILL BE INCREASED DURING COMING YEAR

An elaborate program for an increase in work during the coming year, among the various divisions of the Greene County W. C. T. U., was outlined by the program committee of the organization, at the county-wide meeting, held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Custis, on South Detroit Street, Tuesday.

Divisions of the work that are to be stressed according to the plans laid are the following: Christian Citizenship, Anti-Narcotic, Public Health, Child Welfare, Sabbath Observance, Community Welfare, Law Observance, and progression in the forward movements for constructive work. The Union, making 100 per cent of near that number in handling the entire program will be presented a silk flag at the County W. C. T. U. Convention.

Over forty women, members of the various unions of the County organization, attended the meeting Tuesday, the morning session being devoted to the discussion of various business matters. The program of the annual W. C. T. U. meeting at the Miami Valley Chautauqua, which is supported by the W. C. T. U. of the surrounding counties, was outlined at the meeting, and will be featured by an address by Mrs. Debra Knox Livingston, National Superintendent of Christian Citizenship in the W. C. T. U.

Among the projects of the W. C. T. U. accomplished recently has been the placing of the Bible for daily reading in the city schools, which has obtained the support of Superintendent of Schools, C. A. Waltz. The International Reform Bureau is sponsoring the movement, which is entirely optional with local school authorities.

A resolution was prepared at the meeting Tuesday and sent to Sheriff Morris Sharp, Deputy Sheriff John Baugh and Constable Mrs. Winifred Mason, endorsing their activities in rounding up bootleggers in the county.

A three-fold plan of work is being outlined for the Union for the coming year, and every member of the Central Committee is being given the national W. C. T. U. paper "The Union Signal" to encourage acquaintance with W. C. T. U. activities.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., is the author of the bill, being fathered by Representative Brown of Champaign County for introduction and passage in the State Legislature, prohibiting the sale, manufacture, importation or exportation, advertising or the use of the cigarette or cigarette paraphernalia in the State of Ohio. Petitions with reference to the bill have been circulated among the Xenia City Churches and various organizations for endorsement, to be forwarded to Columbus, next week.

Members of the County organization, Tuesday, voted to invite Miss Lulu Sollers, Dayton policewoman to be the guest at the spring institute in May.

Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass has offered her services to the county organization, to any union that requests her to give public health talks. Luncheon and a social hour was held at noon, the noon tide devotions being in charge of Rev. Edwin Walley, of Spring Valley. Several visitors attended the session.

Well-Known and Popular Mission Worker in Columbus, Pays Fine Tribute to Ka-di-ok.

Mr. George Cross, an old-time resident of Columbus, living at 1165 North Pearl Street, whose occupation is that of a carpenter, and who is well known to hundreds of people by reason of his activities in mission work, gratefully acknowledges the merits of Ka-di-ok. He says: "Ka-di-ok is a remedy of great merit and I am pleased to publicly acknowledge it, as it may influence others to try it who may be suffering as I did. I had stomach and kidney trouble for a long time—years, in fact—and I was in a very nervous condition; had no appetite and was very restless and sleepless at night. I had become very weak and barely had strength or ambition enough to get around and take care of things. I have taken a few bottles of Ka-di-ok and am now feeling fine. My appetite is very good and I sleep well; have no more pains in my back and have gained a great deal of strength. My experience with Ka-di-ok is very gratifying, indeed, and I shall always use it if I have any further sickness of this nature."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store, Xenia.

MESSAGE URGING DEBT FUND PLAN TO BE READ WEDNESDAY

Washington, Feb. 7.—President Harding's message urging the acceptance of the British debt funding agreement by congress probably will be sent to the capital tomorrow, it was announced at the White House this afternoon following the cabinet meeting.

The president has not yet decided, it was stated, whether congress should merely ratify the agreement or amend the funding act, but does not regard the method as vital.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, members of the American debt commission agree that the recent rise in the market prices of liberty bonds may be attributed directly to the settlement with Great Britain.

Van Wert, O., Feb. 7.—Clark Gord, prominent Van Wert attorney, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head at his home here today. Mrs. Gord hearing the report of the revolver shot, found her husband's body stretched out on a couch with the smoking gun clasped in his right hand. Ill health is given as the cause of the tragedy.

Last month I began a series of four articles intended to help the housekeeper in her purchase of dress goods. The following chart of wool dress goods finishes the set:

Broadcloth:—This is familiar to us all, made from woolen yarns and closely woven with a satin finish. The surface is napped in the finishing process and then pressed down. The best qualities are called "satin broadcloth," and the housekeeper should not expect to get a good quality unless she pays a good price for it. Ladies Cloth is much like Broadcloth, but is not as heavy.

Cheviot is somewhat like serge, although heavier and often rougher in finish. Some cheviots are called "diagonals."

Albatross, Cashmere, Challie and Henrietta are all light weight wool materials used for dresses, wrappers and children's clothes. All are made in flowered or gored designs, the design being either printed on, or woven into the cloth. Henrietta and Cashmere come in twilled weave.

Melton and Covert Cloth are used widely for suits and overcoats. They are heavy, firm materials. Melton generally comes in black and dark blue and is thick with a short nap. Covert is twilled and most often in undyed natural shades.

Bolivia Cloth is now extremely fashionable and is an excellent purchase.

Velour is thick, soft-felted and is also splendid for suits and coats.

Bedford Cord should be familiar to all women. It is a fine woolen cloth with ribs of different widths running with the length. Make sure to ascertain whether it is all wool or whether the raised ribs are padded with cotton.

AUTO ASSOCIATION WILL SUPPORT BILL

Columbus, Feb. 6.—Ohio State Automobile association announced that it would support the bill of Senator McCrea to require rear-vision mirrors on trucks; the bill of Representative Wendt, to legalize the sale of denatured alcohol to all dealers, and the bill by Representative Tait, making owners of automobiles liable for injuries and damage to property regardless of who is driving the machine.

In addition to all bills imposing a gasoline tax, it will oppose the bill by Representative Herbert making it fraudulent to retain a rented storage battery for longer than 10 days without informing the owner; the bill by Representative Kennedy, to transfer the registration and manufacture of auto licenses from the office of secretary of state to the Ohio penitentiary, and the bill by Representative Ebright, providing that a justice of the peace may have his office in any town.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

THE JOURNEY'S ENDS

CHAPTER 2.

In spite of her interest, her delight in seeing the country, Ann was glad when her journey ended. She felt very tired.

She had coughed a good deal on the train, especially when crossing the desert. She had a week to rest before her school opened, and she declared whimsically that she would spend it in bed.

The doctor's friend had made all arrangements for her, a boarding place, someone to meet her and so on. The woman with whom she was to board was kind, but Ann was unaccountably homesick, desperately lonely.

The little schoolhouse was quite a walk from her boarding place, but Ann would stop to rest half way, and so it didn't seem to hurt her.

People she met were kind, but she had lived all her life where she knew everyone, where everyone knew her. She adored her mother, and letters don't take the place of a loving mother's arms. She missed her stern old Puritan father, who loved her too and who, while strict, was always fair.

She did not improve as she wished. She could endure but little. After her day's work was done she often was compelled to lie down. Sunday she spent in bed gathering up strength for the week.

But every day, from nine until four, she taught the young children of the town and dreamed of the time she would be well enough to go back home.

Her letters were always bright and cheerful, retailing every little incident she thought might interest or amuse her parents. She knew it had made self-denial on their part to send her away not only in parting from her, but in providing the means, although no hint of the mortgage had reached her.

One day after leaving the schoolhouse she felt unusually weak and faint after walking a little way, and leaned against fence to rest. She had not seen the tall, tanned stranger until he spoke.

"Are you sick? Can I help you?"

It's what you put in it's "nose bag" that counts

Now Ann did not even almost forget him, although she saw him but once more before he left.

They chatted a few moments, he telling her of his ranch, asking questions concerning her health. She told him her story, so simple, and ended it with a sigh.

"I don't seem to get strong very fast," she told him in excuse.

"This is no place for you! Southern California is where you belong. Better try to come down there—you wouldn't know yourself in a month."

"Oh, I'd love to! But I can't. I teach school here."

"I see—you're the Yankee school teacher they told me about."

"Yes," Ann wondered what they had told him but did not ask.

"Well, you'd better try to get in a better climate."

He put out his strong brown hand and for the first time they shook hands.

Then once again he was gone, and it seemed to Ann that he had taken all the sunshine with him, that everything looked drab and cold.

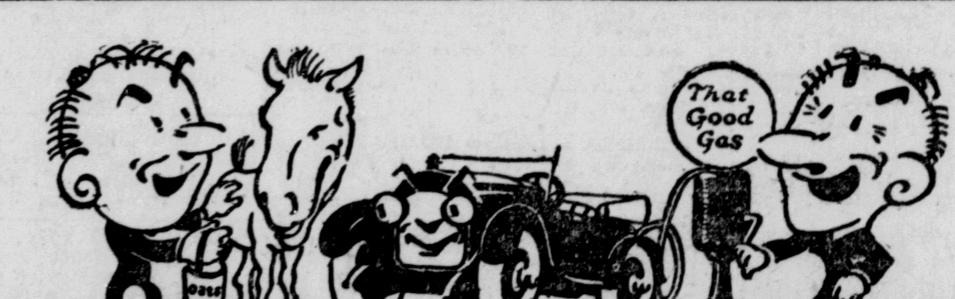

Tomorrow—Dick Beldon.

CONFERENCE OF CENTRAL AMERICAN REPUBLICS SETTLES U. S. RELATIONS

Washington, Feb. 7.—The conference of Central American republics—the miniature Washington arms conference—came to an end here today with the signing, in open plenary session, of one treaty, eleven conventions and three protocols affecting the relations of the United States with Central America and those of the Central American republics among themselves.

With Secretary of State Hughes as chairman the conference has concluded a treaty of peace and amity, a convention for the establishment of a central American arbitration tribunal, a convention for the limitation of armaments, and numerous other agreements expected to prove of marked benefit to all concerned.

Under the terms of the agreement for the limitation of armaments, the various Central American countries bind themselves to limit their standing armies and national guard as follows:

Guatemala 5,200; Salvador 4,200; Honduras 2,500; Nicaragua 2,500; and Costa Rica 2,000.

This limitation is to continue in force for five years.

The contracting powers further

agree not to export or permit the exportation of arms or munitions or any other kind of military stores in furthering the maintenance of friendly relations between the central American states.

Another important accomplishment of the conference is its agreement for the establishment of an international Central American tribunal.

Under the terms of a separate protocol, the United States government has the right to name fifteen of its citizens to be available for service on the tribunals which may be created in accordance with the terms of this convention.

The general treaty of peace and amity approved by the conference, incorporates those provisions of the

NEW CANAL ACROSS Isthmus of Panama Now Being Favored

Profits from Panama Canal May Be Used to Construct New Waterway.

Washington, Feb. 7.—A white house statement disclosed that the administration favors application of the profits accruing from operation of the Panama canal to the construction of new interoceanic waterway.

The question was discussed at a cabinet meeting, it was said.

Impetus was given to the discussion by Secretary Weeks' explanation to his cabinet colleagues of the striking increase in traffic through the canal last month, when the records show a 50 per cent greater movement than a year ago. Canal tolls collections made, the cabinet was told, until there is a steadily increasing monthly balance above cost of operation.

Presumably it was this fact which brought out the administration's desire that canal profits go toward construction of a new canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Such comment as was available in cabaret circles favored the Nicaraguan canal route, if a new canal project was to be put forward. The least costly method of increasing the traffic capacity from ocean to ocean, it was pointed out at the war department, would be to double the lock facilities of the Panama canal, but it was added that both from a military point of view as to defensibility, and because it would shorten the trip from coast to coast by some five days, the Nicaraguan route appeared most desirable.

In Nicaraguan circles here it was said nothing of a definite nature as to a new canal project had been heard.

It was added, however, that canal rights already granted to the United States by that country were valid and that the conflicting interests of Costa Rica as to San Juan river, along the route, and Fonseca bay, already had been worked out in direct negotiations between Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

"We in the United States, shall rejoice in the vigor of your national life; in the development of your republics. We desire your peace, your tranquility, just pride and satisfaction which will come to each of your republics from unimpaired integrity."

CONFERENCE OF SMALL NATIONS MORAL LESSON

Limitation Meet of Central American Powers Praised By Hughes.

EXAMPLE TO WORLD

Secretary of State Delivers Address at Closing of Peace Conference

Washington, Feb. 7.—In agreeing to limit their armies and to settle their disputes by peaceful conference instead of by resort to force, the five republics of Central America have furnished a moral lesson to the world, Secretary of State Hughes declared here today in an address at the closing session of the Central American conference.

"You have furnished an agreeable and helpful example of the advantages of conference," said Hughes, "provided always that it is dominated by a firm determination to find the solutions of amity, and is animated by belief that these will better serve the aims of security and progress than any possible strife."

Secretary Hughes congratulated the delegates upon the success of their efforts to remove causes for possible war, and told them that "the friendly assistance of the United States is always at their command."

"You have no serious questions which should vex your peaceful relations," continued Hughes. "Of the boundary disputes you have now arranged to submit the last to friendly arbitration. You have development, progress and utmost prosperity almost within your grasp. You have taken here wise precautions against destructive and pernicious influences."

"We in the United States, shall rejoice in the vigor of your national life; in the development of your republics. We desire your peace, your tranquility, just pride and satisfaction which will come to each of your republics from unimpaired integrity."

WOMEN PRISONERS ON HUNGER STRIKE

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Two women prisoners in the county jail here are on hunger strike in protest against their imprisonment. They are Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards of Solvay and Mrs. Julia Chapwreck of Syracuse. Mrs. Edwards is under indictment charged with imperiling the lives of her six children by turning on the gas while she and the children were at home. The authorities say she was attempting suicide. She has refused to eat since Saturday, when she was sent to jail in default of $5,000 bail. Mrs. Chapwreck is held because of failure or inability to pay a $500 fine imposed on her for a violation of the state prohibition enforcement act.

RESCUE PARTY IS BAFFLED BY SNOW

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 7.—Baffled yesterday when blinding snow forced a flyer down at Grayling, Selbridge field airmen today started another plane to the aid of an injured lumberjack 250 miles away on Beaver Island, in Lake Michigan, near Charlevoix. The lumberjack, Jesse Cole, crushed under runaway logs, will probably die, unless medical aid can reach Beaver Island except by airplane, as the heavy ice floes make boat traffic impossible.

CONGRESS NOT IN FAVOR OF RED RAIDS NOW HELD

SENATOR ATTACKS ACTS OF DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AGENTS

WALSH FLAYS PLAN

SOLON SAYS REPORT IS WARNING NOT TO REPEAT ILLEGAL RAIDS

Washington, Feb. 7.—A warning that congress will look with extreme disfavor upon any repetition by the department of justice of the now famous wholesale "red raids" by former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer during the winter of 1920 was sounded today by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana.

Walsh submitted to the senate a report by a sub committee of the judiciary committee sharply attacking the department of justice for illegal practices in conducting the raids. The report is signed by Senators Borah, Norris and Ashurst, in addition to Walsh.

"This report," Walsh said today, "is a warning, a warrant, to the department that hereafter congress will regard as an impeachable offense any use of such high handed tactics as used during the 1920 raids."

Not only was the department without authority to make arrests in deportation in raids but by acts of congress this was solely up to the department of labor, but, Walsh added:

"From the standpoint of an enlightened humanity it is unfair to speak of the affair as an unmitigated outrage."

Purely aside from any legal or humanistic consideration, Walsh said he did not believe any series of wholesale raids can effectively wipe out, or check, radical tendencies within the United States or any other country.

"I am skeptical about the claim that the subsidence of the radical activities is attributable to these lawless raids," he said, "particularly as the same change is noticeable all over Europe."

"At the time of the raids there was a general belief that bolshevism was about to over run Europe and to engulf America. If Europe ever was alarmed at the prospect of being overrun by the arms or the ideas of Russia, it has fully recovered its normal state; if there ever prevailed any general idea that the people of Europe were about to embrace bolshevism, it has been dissipated.

"It is only in such times that the guarantees of the constitution as to the protection of individual rights are of any practical value," said the Walsh report.

"In seasons of calm no one thinks of denying them; they are accorded as a matter of course. It is rare except when the public mind is stirred by some overwhelming catastrophe or is aghast at some hideous crime, or otherwise overwrought, that one is required to appeal to his constitutional rights."

"If in such times the constitution is not a shield the enconiums which statesmen and jurists have paid it are fustian."

The Wilhelmina replied she was standing by, but leaking badly her self.

One message said the Sierra was

The government narcotic board, comprising Secretary Hughes, Hoover and Mellon, recognize this as the only alternative which this government now can adopt to check the drug menace, which is claiming a greater number of victims in the United States than any other country on the globe.

The board's conclusion followed a world survey of the drug evil, and a study of possible methods to cope with it at its source. An expert survey of the problem in its angles, has been completed for the government by the far eastern division of the commerce department. Recommendations prepared by F. R. Eldridge, far eastern expert, were made public today.

The government, it was declared,

Washington, Feb. 7.—Fair and cold weather throughout the country tonight with rising temperature tomorrow was predicted today by the U. S. weather bureau.

OCEAN GOING PACIFIC LINERS COLLIDE MID-SEA IN DENSE FOG

Sierra and Wilhelmina, Latter With Many Passengers Crash off California—Crews of Sierra Quits Ship in Small Boats.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 7.—In a dense fog early today, the inbound liner Wilhelmina from Honolulu with a large number of passengers aboard, crashed into the motor ship Sierra outbound from San Francisco for San Pedro, near the San Francisco lightship about twenty miles out from the golden gate.

First reports reaching the harbor said both ships were leaking as a result of the collision and that the Wilhelmina was standing by the Sierra.

Tugs were rushed to the assistance of the vessels and the golden gate life saving crew hastily put out for the scene of the collision.

The Sierra's wireless went down shortly after 5:30 a. m. The last message indicated the crew was taking to the boats. It asked the Wilhelmina to stand by until assistance came, saying the engine room was completely flooded and that the list was becoming pronounced.

The Wilhelmina replied she was standing by, but leaking badly her self.

One message said the Sierra was a sinking. She was reported then to have had a 45 degree list.

The collision occurred seven miles west of the lightship.

The Wilhelmina's passenger list was reported in the neighborhood of 275 and in addition she carried a large crew.

HOUSE TURNS DOWN ANTI-KLAN BILL BY MAJORITY OF 81-26

Harding Measure to Provide Registration Defeated After Debate

Columbus, Feb. 7.—After two hours of debate the house defeated Representative Harding's anti-Ku Klux Klan bill by a vote of 81 to 26.

Opponents declared the measure was opposed, not because it was aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, but because it would affect all fraternal organizations.

It would affect all fraternal organizations, requiring them to file with the secretary of state lists of their lodge members and officers and to keep open for public inspection rosters of the members. To have limited it to the Ku Klux Klan would have made it unconstitutional.

Representative Harding in a speech urging passage of the bill denounced the Ku Klux Klan as an "un-American and non-Christian" organization, whose "hooded members must meet behind closed doors in regalia which makes them undistinguishable one from another even among themselves."

He particularly scored the use of the "flying cross" by the Klan.

Study of the havoc wrought in this country results in the conclusion of the narcotic board that even drastic restrictions of the legitimate trade in drugs—embracing importation under license and manufacture under the Harrison act—is unlikely to affect the illegitimate use of smuggling of drugs to any appreciable extent.

"When control over manufacture is perfected throughout the world, the need for international action on regulation of common carriers of drugs in peace time can and should be made as drastic as the rules of war regarding contraband," Mr. Eldridge submitted in his report. "The world is or should be on a crusade against the drug traffic. The right of visit and search and of seizure, and all other rules regarding war contraband should apply with equal force against a weapon more deadly than cannon and with a growing list of fatalities laid at its door each year—the illegitimate drug."

The report disclosed that the source of much of the illicit drug traffic in the United States is in Asia Minor, where most of the opium used here is produced. Certain European countries are the intermediaries through which the illicit drugs reach this country.

"We took it 30 miles to sea in order that the contraband cargo might be dropped to the bottom of the ocean in the original packages," he declared.

"There's little chance of any one recovering it far out."

Why the rite of "committing these cases to the deep" was performed so far from shore was explained by Thomas W. Whittle, surveyor of the port.

"We took it 30 miles to sea in order that the contraband cargo might be dropped to the bottom of the ocean in the original packages," he declared.

"There's little chance of any one recovering it far out."

Supreme court Judge Morschauser yesterday declined to grant Mrs. Stillman an additional, $33,000 alimony.

She is now receiving $30,000 a year from her husband.

ISMET BELIEVES NEGOTIATIONS TO BE RENEWED

Turk to Return to Lausanne In Month and Treaty May Be Signed

BRITISH "SIT TIGHT"

Greek Delegates Leave For Germany and Russia To Report

Lausanne, Feb. 7.—The Turkish and Russian delegations in the Near East peace conference, headed respectively by Ismet Pasha and George Tchitcherine, departed today. The treaty is still unsigned and there are no indications that it will be in the immediate future.

That Ismet believes the negotiations will be renewed was indicated by a statement he made just before he boarded the train at 6:40 o'clock.

"I do not consider that the peace conference is ended," said Ismet. "I am awaiting myself of this opportunity to go to Angora to report to my government. The future course of development is up to the Angora assembly."

Ismet Pasha said he expected to return to Lausanne in three or four weeks, indicating that it would be a month before the treaty is signed, if it is signed at all. Ismet expects to reach Angora Saturday or Sunday and will at once report to the cabinet and the national assembly. The assembly will then decide whether or not to accept the allies' terms with the new modifications that have been proposed.

The British cabinet is expected to "sit tight" until Angora makes a decision one way or another.

The British representative in Lausanne was instructed to see Ismet and ask him what terms Angora was likely to demand, but was told that this was entirely up to the national assembly and that no one could speak in advance for that body.

Much annoyance was caused by new reports on Tuesday that France had notified Great Britain that the Turks were ready to sign. There was another report that the Turks had postponed their departure until Saturday in hope the negotiations would be reopened in the meantime. Ismet Pasha said he did not know the source of these rumors and that no such "information" had come from him.

Angora's order for foreign war ships to leave Smyrna is causing much apprehension lest the Turkish government is preparing for war. Mustapha Kemal Pasha is understood to be in Angora.

ROTARIANS ENJOY INFORMAL MEETING AT ELK'S TUESDAY

An informal meeting, combining a social time, with business, short talks, and discussion of local, national and international affairs, followed the regular club dinner, of the Rotary Club, at the Elk's Tuesday night.

Judge R. L. Gowdy, chairman of the program, presided over the meeting, each member of the club introducing the member seated at his left and many impromptu speeches occasioning merriment, featuring the introductions. During the business meeting which followed plans were made to send a representative from the local club to the St. Louis, Mo., convention, next June. The club secretary furnished the club with rates and other details of the convention.

In a five minute talk at the close of the meeting, Judge Gowdy discussed current events of the past months, touching upon the Lausanne conference, and other European affairs, bringing about a resume of local events, and closed with a tribute to the late W. C. Hutchison, citing his life and principles as exemplifying the Rotary spirit. Rotary songs, and a social time closed the meeting.

Sadie J. Alexander

Sadie J. Alexander, daughter of Ebner and Mary Jane Compton, was born June 15, 1860, died February 2, 1923, age 62 years, 7 months and 17 days.

She was united in marriage to Charles F. Alexander, February 2, 1882. To this union were born six children, one of whom died when but a little over a year old. The children that remain to mourn their loss are Lawrence on the home farm; Mrs. W. W. Trout of Springfield, Ohio; Mrs. Joshua Inwood and Mrs. John Peterson both of Spring Valley, and Mary of Xenia, Ohio.

Sister Alexander united with the M. E. Church at Spring Valley 22 years ago under the pastorate of Rev. Philip Trout and remained a faithful member until transferred to the Church Triumphant.

She enjoyed the services of the church and rejoiced in its prosperity. She was a member of the Ladies Aid Society.

She was solicitous for the welfare of others. Loved her family, and home and flowers most dearly. She was always happy to have the children come home.

Besides her children, she leaves one sister, Mrs. M. F. Bell of Xenia, and three brothers: Wm. and Ambrose Compton of Xenia, and Clifford Compton of Spring Valley, ten grand children, many other relatives, and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

We are encouraged to believe that although translated our loved ones are still solicitors for our welfare. Heaven may be nearer to earth and our translated loved ones closer to us than we think. There is but a narrow vale between.

The hope that we shall meet our loved ones again takes away the recollections of the past, and mitigates the pain of separation.

"And so beside the silent sea I wait the muffled oar; No harm can come to me On ocean or on shore."

I know not where His islands lift Their fronded palms in air, I only know I can not drift Beyond his love and care."

FAMOUS AUTOS TACK UP ANOTHER VICTORY

ROAN POST AND LOENDI CLUB WILL STRUGGLE SATURDAY

MERCHANTS AND PREST-O-LITES ALSO WIN

FAMOUS AUTOS WIN AGAIN By Wones

The powerful Famous Autos of this city won another game Tuesday night at the new high school gym when they engaged the sturdy N. C. R. Tigers of Dayton in a fast exhibition of the court game. The final score was 32 to 15.

The N. C. R. boys threw a scare into the locals in the opening period and hung right on to the heels of Coach Haller's lads so that when the half ended the Autos were holding a slender three point lead the score being 11 to 8. The Famous uncovered a passwork that was pleasing to see.

Each man seemed to know his place and seldom missed being there at the right time. The locals got their offense and defense working like a well oiled machine in the second period of the evening's pastime and the result was that they scored 21 points while the best the cash outfit could get was 7.

Barlow started the scoring for the locals after several minutes when he caged one from the field. He also tossed one in from the free throw line and followed up with a long one. The visitors broke through with one at this time when Davis snagged the one. Mark came right back and tossed another one for the locals and duplicated this one after he took a pass from Solowitz. Brown tossed a foul and Broadstone turned in a long one. Davis counted with another one and a foul Solowitz threw a beautiful fielder from the center of the floor and the period ended a few seconds later.

In the second half Solimano replaced Koester at center. Barlow again started things going for the Autos with another one from the field. Solimano dropped two fouls through and Barlow looped another one. Broadstone grabbed the ball at this time and sent it spinning into the net and L. Blicher also counted one. Solimano tossed another foul and a field goal while Mark came through with one. Solimano made two in rapid succession, R. Blicher turned one in for the visitors. Brown got a foul goal while Barlow garnered another and Solowitz turned in a long one. Barlow made a neat ringer from underneath the basket and this ended the scoring.

Barlow and Solimano were the stars for the Autos while the guard of Solowitz and Koehler was high class. Davis and Brown were the high men for the N. C. R. bunch. Pooch, former Stivers high star, played a good floor game. Next week the locals will probably play the Dayton Red Wings at the high school gym. There will be two fast preliminaries. ## POLICE MASK PLANS IN INVESTIGATION OF TAYLOR MURDER

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—A close mask of secrecy today surrounded operations of local police and agents of the department of justice co-operating in a new probe of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, famous motion picture director shot to death just a year ago.

That the impenetrable mystery which has surrounded the case since the body of Taylor was found lying on the floor of his home will soon be lifted and an arrest made in the case, seemed certain, it was learned, although officers refused to discuss reports that plans were being made to effect the arrest.

The new theory involves a "love triangle" and the re-opening of the investigation follows the gathering of a mass of information in another city. This coupled with information given officers by a former dope peddler who is said to have revealed "inside information" he obtained in the Los Angeles underworld shortly after the slaying.

The love triangle under investigation is said to involve a man befriended by Taylor and a well known actress for the love of whom the men clashed.

JAMES TAKEN TO LIMA.

Sheriff Morris Sharp went to Lima Tuesday, escorting William James, colored, whom he turned over to authorities at the Lima Hospital for the Criminal Insane. James was sentenced by Probate Judge Marshall after he had been indicted for assault with intent to rob.

Authorities say that loot taken by Walter Bangham and Louis Vandervoort, who is also held on a murder charge, was hidden by Charles Bangham although he knew it was stolen property. More of the loot taken by the youths in their series of robberies has been uncovered at the Bangham home, it is said.

Although there are no new developments in history of the now-famous Vandervoort case, there are rumors emanating from Wilmington, where the boys are held, that they will plead guilty to the charges against them and throw themselves on the mercy of the court.

be a short one, comprising approximately 2000 words.

It is understood President Harding will incorporate in his debt message a final appeal to congress to enact the ship subsidy bill, which has been held up in the senate for several months, and will follow up his message with personal interview with senators to urge an early vote.

Girl Doomed to Death to See Fairyland

Helen V. Collins.

On an intensive canvass of Xenia business men to determine sentiment regarding the Chamber of Commerce, rests the future of that organization.

Volunteering to give time to the effort for several days Oliver Belden was authorized to canvass the situation for a commercial organization here at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night which made up in interest what it lacked in numbers.

Beginning his work Thursday morning, Mr. Belden will conduct a thorough canvass of Xenia's commercial and industrial interests to determine if sentiment here will favor a revival and rejuvenation of the Chamber of Commerce as advocated at the meeting Tuesday night and will submit his report to a similar meeting to be held at the organization rooms next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

If Xenia business men show the same sort of sentiment as exhibited at Tuesday night's meeting of keeping the organization alive and making it a real factor in civic affairs here, an entire re-organization of the Chamber and a probable change of quarters will be advocated at once. If the sentiment as expressed to Mr. Belden during his canvass of the situation is adverse to continuing the organization, the board of directors is prepared to close the organization February 15, and the association will pass into history.

Although 150 cards of invitations to members and former members urging them to bring other interested people to the meeting were sent out last week, only a mere handful responded to the invitation. Several of these were business men who are not now members of the Chamber but who are anxious to see that it survives and who pledged their support to any movement that will keep the organization alive.

"It is a sad commentary on Xenia's business interests if the Chamber of Commerce is permitted to expire from lack of interest at the time when one of its most important achievements is being brought home to members," said one member at Tuesday night's meeting. "I refer to the announcement that The Ohio Bell Telephone Company is preparing to refund $8,637 to subscribers in the Xenia area, which brings to a successful climax the fight for reduced rates waged by the Chamber of Commerce and the city. The Chamber of Commerce immediately protested this rate increase and engaged an attorney, paying him considerable fees, that this refunder might be obtained. I believe it is one of the most striking examples of the success of the Chamber of Commerce."

Other interested people attending the meeting argued against taking another failure of Xenia's commercial organization history, now marked by many efforts to organize a permanent association for business interests, which eventually failed. These failures constitute black marks on the reputation of Xenia's business, it was pointed out by some, who referred to publicity scoring the movement to abandon the Chamber of Commerce, which had reached as far as Cleveland newspapers last week and was widely copied during the last week.

Under temporary plan devised, dues will be raised from the present $10 a year to sum to $15 a year, a move necessary to give the organization operating expenses. Members who are paid up until September 1, 1923, will be credited with a half-year membership, and the fiscal year will be changed from September 1, to February 15. Paid-up members will only have to pay $7.50 to be credited for the full year however, and it was conditioned that no dues would be paid until Mr. Belden can give assurance following his survey, that there will be sufficient interested people to furnish the organization a membership and an adequate income. The meeting Tuesday was presided over by President Karl Bloom.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy.

Anyone who has coughed all day and night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pineox; then add plain granulated sugar to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way the pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens the phlegm, thin out and then expels it altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pineox is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pineox" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pineox Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ALFALFA CAMPAIGN MEETING SUCCESS

The enthusiasm in connection with the alfalfa campaign, sponsored by the Greene County Farm Bureau, over the county, this week, has reached its height, over 100 acres of the crop being pledged by different farmers at the three meetings held.

During the remainder of the week meetings will be held at other points of the county, and it is expected by Farm Bureau officers that a large number of additional acres will be pledged. Capable speakers, interesting movies, promoting the growth of alfalfa, and large audiences have featured each of the meetings, according to County Agent Prince.

Winifred B. Mason, Deputy Sheriff, Mrs. Spencer, and dry officers, on a charge of having intoxicating liquor in her possession.

Bottles filled with what Mrs. Johnson claimed was peach brandy, blackberry wine and another liquor that she said she was unable to identify, were confiscated.

There was about two gallons of the evidence. Mrs. Johnson at first entered a plea of not guilty but later changed her plea to guilty. Justice of the Peace J. E. Jones assessed a fine of $200 and costs which she promised to pay by four o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

FRANCE'S HARD JOB IN GERMANY.

Confusion of purpose and action is working havoc with the relations of France and Germany, and therefore it is working havoc with the peace of Europe. The French occupation of the Ruhr region is marked by increasing confusion because of conflicts between French and civil authorities, as well as conflicts with the German national and local authorities and with industrial leaders. The end of the chaotic conditions now developing is not easy to foresee, but it is at least certain that the end will be unfortunate. France is employing military force and such military methods as martial law and courts-martial in an effort to compel the Germans to exercise genuine co-operation in industrial activities. It is not in human nature to work wholeheartedly under compulsion. The basic idea of the French government in employing force to compel German workers on German soil to extract coal for France is a mistake which rebounds with violent and disastrous effect upon France as well as upon Germany. It is an attempt to run counter to the dictates of human nature. Only in slavery or in war can men in large numbers be compelled to work involuntarily; and even in war civilized nations will not compel prisoners to work against their own country.

BY WORK ONLY CAN YOU "GET THERE."

Vice President Coolidge thinks it is a great mistake to suppose that under some form of government or in some advanced state of civilization people can exist without effort and live wholly at ease. He says: "The opposite conclusion would be more nearly correct. It requires less intelligence, less skillful effort to live among a tribe of savages than to maintain existence under the average condition of modern society. Independence, liberty, civilization are hard to bear. It is not sloth and ease, but work and achievement which are the ideals of today. Self-control is arduous; self-government is difficult. Always there is the temptation that some element of these should be surrendered in exchange for security and ease. The appeal to passion and prejudice always lies in this direction. The proposal to despoil others of their possessions is a manifestation of the same spirit. This is the reason that to certain of our native born and more often to our foreign born the American republic proves a disappointment. They thought that self-government meant the absence of all restraint; that independence meant living without work, and that freedom was the privilege of doing what they wanted to do."

HAS JUST RIDDEN 2,000 MILES IN EUROPEAN AIR.

Grover C. Loening, President of the Loening Aeronautical Engineering Corporation, New York, after a tour of Europe, is convinced that America leads the world in aviation. From this sweeping assertion he excepts not even France, which heads all nations in military planes. Mr. Loening has just completed a 2,000-mile aerial circuit of Europe. He used practically every kind of flying machine, from the latest Fokker to the London-to-Paris Handley-Paige. In his early thirties, Mr. Loening is engaged chiefly in manufacturing marine airplanes for the United States navy. "Europe leads in air subsidies," declared Mr. Loening, "commercially subsidized air lines being unknown in America; but I am not sure America is not better off with the impetus of ordinary competition. From a military standpoint, our army aviation, though not so large as that of France, is equal in technical detail. In naval aviation we are way ahead, especially in torpedo planes and shipboard airplanes, which are being specially developed by engineers in the navy."

OUR "AMERICANIZED" INDIANS.

Indians are no longer a vanishing race. They are beginning to come back as they adopt the ways of civilization. America now has about 341,000 Indians, an increase of 13,500 in ten years. The Indians were inured to the open air and hardships, and succumbed to civilization, and still the longevity and health of modern man surpass those of the ancient days. Sanitation and science were practically unknown to them. They survived only through their hardiness, physical strength, exercise, and abundance of fresh air. The primitive age is gone, and the Indian has adapted his customs to those of the ruling race, and with all the benefits of modern progress the descendants of the original Americans should gain in numbers. But the genuine Indian is practically extinct. He has been or is being Americanized just as are the immigrants, and is becoming a product of the huge melting pot. There are 66,000 Indian children in schools learning how to be good citizens of the United States. But when they look at America today, with its tremendous wealth, its world vision, must they not regret the lost opportunities. Or would they prefer the wild, freedom of the past?

It is not vanity but commonsense to keep the nails well polished. The friction of the buffer over the nail stimulates the circulation of the blood bringing a fresh supply to nourish and rejuvenate the nail. The only way in which polishing the nails could be harmful would be when polishing powder is used. This, of course is necessary when the nails are done only once a week or so, but if they are rubbed for a few moments every day I do not think they will need this extra help. Polishing powders are invariably drying though their use once is necessary when the nails are done if you use oil when you manicure. If your nails show ridges or if they have any tendency towards ridges nothing is better than a daily two minute polish. When the ridges are bad they should be worn smooth with a bit of fine pumice stone or even scraped, if you can do it very carefully, with a tiny bit of broken glass. Then each nail should be carefully rubbed with heavy oil, (vaseline is very good for the purpose) wipe dry and polished. After such a treatment you will have to use polishing powder and you will have to polish vigorously to get off all the little scratches. Afterwards when the nail presents a smooth and glossy surface, you can scrub off the powder with soap, water and a nail-brush and then rub with oil again so as to feed this newly exposed surface of the nail.

There are other reasons for keeping the nails well polished. A good gloss will redeem even an indifferent mani-

Vital questions will come up for consideration relative to the coming elections at the next meeting of the Republican Central Committee. ## THE GIVER.

The poor man gives his hard earned cash to buy the poorer fellows hash. His bottom plunk he splits with glee to buy some kid a Christmas tree; he backs up all who pass the hat, he gives for this, he gives for that; and if his gift is but a dime, he hands it out with pep sublime. And oft he sighs, in longing tones, "I wish I had a million bones! I know so many places where a bale of wealth would drive out care. If I were rich and wearing bells, I'd circulate where famine dwells, I'd feed the poor and bring the sick the kind of dope that heals them quick. Wherever hunger rears its head you'd see me packing pies and bread. But I am poor, and all I earn I need to make the homes fires burn. I give a quarter or a dime, and feel such charity's a crime. If I were rich how I would give to people who in squalor live!" Sometimes the poor man quits his toil; his back yard has a well of oil. He buys a gorgeous limousine and banks a bundle of long green. Then he grows cautious in a day; it's sinful, giving wealth away. The poor, if pauperized, grow worse, and charity becomes a curse. Moreover, taxes are a fright; assessors gobble all in sight; the rich are soaked in every way, and bear the burden of the day. "And yet again," this rich man yells, "I need my cash to buy oil wells."

Today's Talk

THE EVERYWHERE EYE

Error, inefficiency, useless waste, carelessness—these are things that the Everywhere Eye never misses.

You may think what you neglect today may never be discovered, or that it will never matter anyway, but remember this—that the Everywhere Eye never misses.

And it lives forever!

The world has recently been thrilled by works of art performed several thousands of years ago by those who formed the ancient civilizations.

How well they wrought! Time has dimmed but a trifle the intricate pains and efforts that went into their work.

No matter what you do, no matter where you are, the Everywhere Eye will follow. Do not boast to yourself that it shall not.

There is an old mythological saying that "the gods see everywhere." This conscious feeling of the all-seeing eye must have been a part of the thought of the earliest worker.

At any rate, sooner or later, the task that you slight shall be revealed to the jury of the world.

Work as though you knew that the Everywhere Eye looked right over you at all times. Keep it as your aim to satisfy yourself. Then, no matter what you do, you will have given to the world honest expression.

A workman called at a dealer's store for a certain material that he had to have to complete a job for a client.

He found difficulty in getting the best quality. "Oh, take that (an inferior material)," said the dealer: "he will never know." "No," replied the workman, "he probably will not know—but I will."

Remember the Everywhere Eye!

WHEN your eyes trouble you, you may wonder why. Let us examine them; we will tell you what the trouble is and how it can be relieved. That is all we do—examine eyes, and when needed, furnish glasses.

Lecture Number Please

The fourth number of the lecture course sponsored by the High School was given on Friday evening at the Opera House, by Elwood T. Bailey, the noted lecturer. His subject was "Building Your Statue in the Niches of Life." He painted a beautiful word picture of a statue of the long ago containing four niches for four men to occupy by achievement. But only three were successful and filled in. The one who failed was Benedict Arnold. Among other suggestions he stressed the fact that both parents and teachers should continuously impress upon the youth the importance of building a splendid character in every respect. He gave as the three outstanding principles that everyone should possess. They are "Confidence, Loyalty and Human Love." His address was brim full of thoughts which will elevate and uplift and was well received by an appreciative audience. The high school orchestra furnished music as a prelude to the entertainment.

The banquet was held at the home of Charles Leach, teacher of Class Number Five. Before the banquet a short program was rendered in which Charles Leach gave the address of welcome followed by a response by Mrs. R. H. Murry, teacher of Class Number Four. A splendid reading by Miss Esther Kilgore was followed by a short talk "My Impressions of Class Number Four," by John Steiner, president of Class Num-

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild harmless salts which helps to remove the body's useless waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get fresh pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent Lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys—the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

O. T. Smith, retired railroad man, 516 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "I had no end of kidney trouble and suffered a great deal with lumbago. Sharp, piercing pains shot through the small of my back and I could hardly straighten after stooping. Colds settled on my kidneys, leaving them extremely weak and irregular in action. Nights I got up four or five times to pass the secretions which were highly colored and contained a sediment like brick dust. Doan's Kidney Pills had been so highly recommended that I got some. Several boxes relieved me of those terrible pains in my back and my kidneys were put in a normal condition."

BRINGING UP FATHER

W.C.T.U. ACTIVITIES WILL BE INCREASED DURING COMING YEAR

An elaborate program for an increase in work during the coming year, among the various divisions of the Greene County W. C. T. U., was outlined by the program committee of the organization, at the county-wide meeting, held at the home of Mrs. W. O. Custis, on South Detroit Street, Tuesday.

Divisions of the work that are to be stressed according to the plans laid are the following: Christian Citizenship, Anti-Narcotic, Public Health, Child Welfare, Sabbath Observance, Community Welfare, Law Observance, and progression in the forward movements for constructive work. The Union making 100 per cent of near that number in handling the entire program will be presented a silk flag at the County W. C. T. U. Convention.

Over forty women, members of the various unions of the County organization, attended the meeting Tuesday, the morning session being devoted to the discussion of various business matters. The program of the annual W. C. T. U. meeting at the Miami Valley Chautauqua, which is supported by the W. C. T. U. of the surrounding counties, was outlined at the meeting, and will be featured by an address by Mrs. Debra Knox Livingston, National Superintendent of Christian Citizenship in the W. C. T. U.

Among the projects of the W. C. T. U. accomplished recently has been the placing of the Bible for daily reading in the city schools, which has obtained the support of Superintendent of Schools, C. A. Waltz. The International Reform Bureau is sponsoring the movement, which is entirely optional with local school authorities.

A resolution was prepared at the meeting Tuesday and sent to Sheriff Morris Sharp, Deputy Sheriff John Baugh and Constable Mrs. Winifred Mason, endorsing their activities in rounding up bootleggers in the county.

A three-fold plan of work is being outlined for the Union for the coming year, and every member of the Central Committee is being given the national W. C. T. U. paper "The Union Signal" to encourage acquaintance with W. C. T. U. activities.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, president of the Greene County W. C. T. U. is the author of the bill, being fathered by Representative Brown of Champaign County for introduction and passage in the State Legislature, prohibiting the sale, manufacture, importation or exportation, advertising or the use of the cigarette or cigarette paraphernalia in the State of Ohio. Petitions with reference to the bill have been circulated among the Xenia City Churches and various organizations for endorsement, to be forwarded to Columbus, next week.

Members of the County organization, Tuesday, voted to invite Miss Lulu Sollers, Dayton policewoman to be the guest at the spring institute in May.

Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass has offered her services to the county organization, to any union that requests her to give public health talks. Luncheon and a social hour was held at noon, the noon tide devotions being in charge of Rev. Edwin Walley, of Spring Valley. Several visitors attended the session.

Linsey-Woolsey—This is frankly a linen and wool mixture. When the housekeeper wishes an inexpensive skirt for ordinary use, she can do no better than buy this.

Prunella is a rich, satin-faced worsted fabric. Voile is fine for dresses. Zibeline if a good grade, is woven with a worsted wrap and a camel's hair filling. Panama Cloth is a good purchase.

Tomorrow Games for Your St. Valentine's Party.

AUTO ASSOCIATION WILL SUPPORT BILL

Last month I began a series of four articles intended to help the housekeeper in her purchase of dress goods. The following chart of wool dress goods finishes the set:

Broadcloth—This is familiar to us all, made from woolen yarns and closely woven with a satin finish. The surface is napped in the finishing process and then pressed down. The best qualities are called "satin broadcloth," and the housekeeper should not expect to get a good quality unless she pays a good price for it. Ladies Cloth is much like Broadcloth, but is not as heavy.

Cheviot is somewhat like serge, although heavier and often rougher in finish. Some cheviots are called "diongones."

Albatross, Cashmere, Challe and Henrietta are all light weight wool materials used for dresses, wrappers and children's clothes. All are made in flowered or gured designs, the design being either printed on, or woven into the cloth. Henrietta and Cashmere come in twilled weave.

Melton and Covert Cloth are used widely for suits and overcoats. They are heavy, firm materials. Melton generally comes in black and dark blue and is thick with a short nap. Covert is twilled and most often in undyed natural shades.

Boilivia Cloth is now extremely fashionable and is an excellent purchase.

Velour is thick, soft-felted and is also splendid for suits and coats.

Bedford Cord should be familiar to all women. It is a fine woolen cloth with ribs of different widths running with the length. Make sure to ascertain whether it is all wool or whether the raised ribs are padded with cotton.

SPRINGFIELD RESCAPES.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 6.—Federal authorities and police are searching today for Carl Wright, a barber of Springfield, Ohio, who made his escape from the Newport jail this morning. Wright was serving a sentence of five months for having transported an automobile from one state to another. Eugene F. Webb, former policeman of Springfield, Ohio, who was sentenced with Wright on the same charge, is serving his time in the Newport jail.

CIVILIAN POLICE SYSTEM ORGANIZED

Middletown, O., Feb. 7.—At a joint meeting between city officials and citizens Monday night a committee was selected to draft rules and regulations creating a civilian co-operative police system.

Fifty citizens will serve, with no authority to make arrests but operating under numbers only, will really act as advisory police, reporting through the city manager, who in turn will report their data to the chief of police.

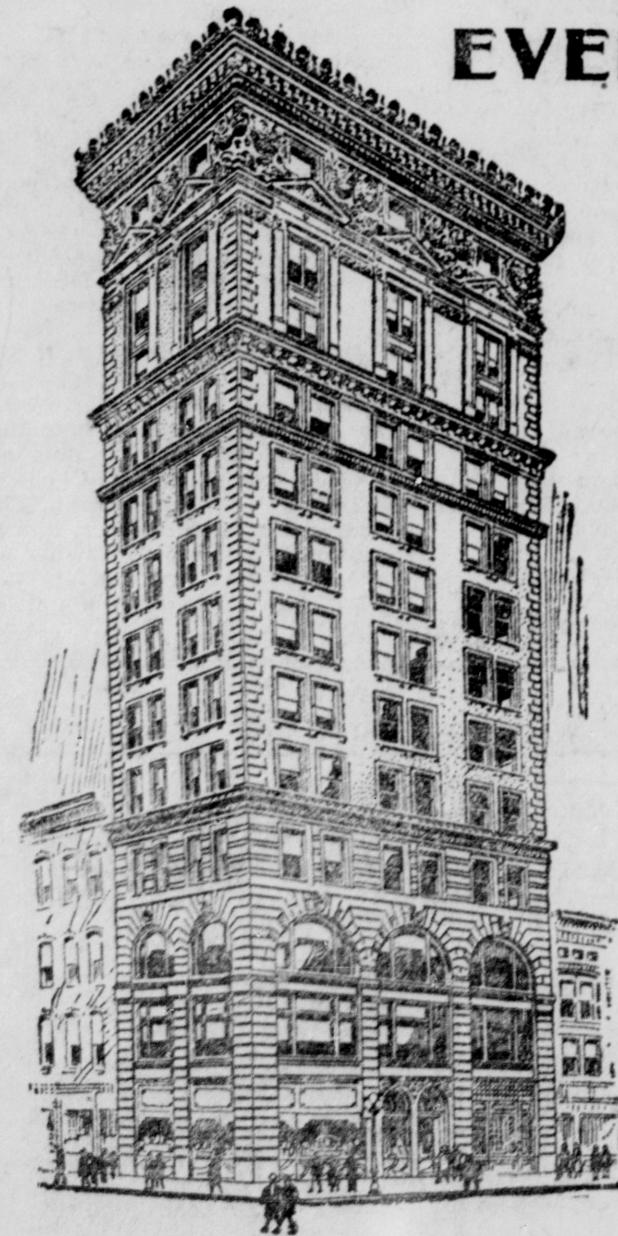

MR. GEORGE CROSS, Columbus, O.
Well-Known and Popular Mission Worker in Columbus, Pays Fine Tribute to Ka-di-oh.

Mr. George Cross, an old-time resident of Columbus, living at 1165 North Pearl Street, whose occupation is that of a carpenter, and who is well known to hundreds of people by reason of his activities in mission work, gratefully acknowledges the merits of Ka-di-oh. He says: "Ka-di-oh is a remedy of great merit and I am pleased to publicly acknowledge it, as it may influence others to try it who may be suffering as I did. I had stomach and kidney trouble for a long time—years, in fact—and I was in a very nervous condition; had no appetite and was very restless and sleepless at night. I had become very weak and barely had strength or ambition enough to get around and take care of things; I have taken a few bottles of Ka-di-oh and am now feeling fine. My appetite is very good and I sleep well; have no more pains in my back and have gained a great deal of strength. My experience with Ka-di-oh is very gratifying, indeed, and I shall always use it if I have any further sickness of this nature."

Ka-di-oh can be obtained at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store, Xenia.

1. That a reaction has set in against the improvidence and extravagance engendered by the war, and—

2. That there is a rapidly growing appreciation by the public of our efforts to give the best to be had from a savings institution in security, accommodations, and rates.

THE JOURNEY'S ENDS

CHAPTER 2.

In spite of her interest, her delight in seeing the country, Ann was glad when her journey ended. She felt very tired.

She had coughed a good deal on the train, especially when crossing the desert. She had a week to rest before her school opened, and she declared whimsically that she would spend it in bed.

The doctor's friend had made all arrangements for her, a boarding place, someone to meet her and so on. The woman with whom she was to board was kind, but Ann was un-speakably homesick, desperately lonely.

The little schoolhouse was quite a walk from her boarding place, but Ann would stop to rest half way, and so it didn't seem to hurt her.

People she met were kind, but she had lived all her life where she knew everyone, where everyone knew her. She adored her mother, and letters don't take the place of a loving mother's arms. She missed her stern old Puritan father, who loved her too and who, while strict, was always fair.

She did not improve as she wished, could endure but little. After her day's work was done she often was compelled to lie down. Sunday's she spent in bed gathering up strength for the week.

But every day, from nine until four, she taught the young children of the town and dreamed of the time she would be well enough to go back home.

Her letters were always bright and cheerful, retailing every little incident she thought might interest or amuse her parents. She knew it had meant self-denial on their part to send her away not only in parting from her, but in providing the means, although no hint of the mortgage had reached her.

One day after leaving the schoolhouse she felt unusually weak and faint after walking a little way, and leaned against fence to rest. She had not seen the tall, tanned stranger until he spoke.

"Are you sick? Can I help you?"

"No, thank you. I am just a little tired, that's all." And smiled up unto his boyish face, into a pair of dark blue eyes lighted with sympathy.

The stranger raised his broad-brimmed felt hat, and moved on, muttering:

"T. B. or I'm no judge." Then turned, and again touched the brim of his hat.

Ann watched, as with long strides he passed out of view. Broad shoulders, narrow hips, legs encased in khaki trousers and heavy riding boots.

"He's well!" she said a bit enviously, noting his light, strong stride. Then with a smile as she recalled his sympathy, she went slowly home wondering who he could be.

Twice in the next few days she saw him.

Each time he doffed the same broad hat, his blonde hair shining in the sun, and smiled at her in friendly fashion. She noted that his hair was almost golden save where it had been tanned by the sun, that his mouth was broad, good-humored, his teeth strong and white. There was a little swagger in his walk, not displeasing. She wondered again who he was—if he lived in the town. Then almost forgot him.

It was two months before she saw him again. It was almost at the place she had first seen him, where he had asked her if she were sick, that they met.

"Are you feeling better?" he asked, smiling down at her. Ann was a tiny little thing, scarce as high as her heart, frail and delicate looking.

"Yes, thank you. The weather has been so fine lately."

"It's always fine where I live! That's the place for you."

"Where is that?" she asked, loath to let him go.

"In the San Bernardino valley—I have an orange ranch," he announced briefly, yet with certain pride.

"I have heard of it was nice there," a wistful tone in her voice.

"Nice! That's no name for it! It's well, it's almost heaven I think."

Then after again telling Ann he was glad she felt better he went his way.

Now Ann did not even almost forget him, although she saw him but once more before he left.

They chatted a few moments, he telling her of his ranch, asking questions concerning her health. She told him her story, so simple, and ended it with a sigh.

"I don't seem to get strong very fast," she told him in excuse.

"This is no place for you! Southern California is where you belong. Better try to come down there—you wouldn't know yourself in a month."

"Oh, I'd love to! But I can't. I teach school here."

"I see—you're the Yankee school teacher they tell me about."

"Yes," Ann wondered what they had told him but did not ask.

"Well, you'd better try to get in a better climate."

He put out his strong brown hand and for the first time they shook hands.

Then once again he was gone, and it seemed to Ann that he had taken all the sunshine with him, that every thing looked drab and cold.

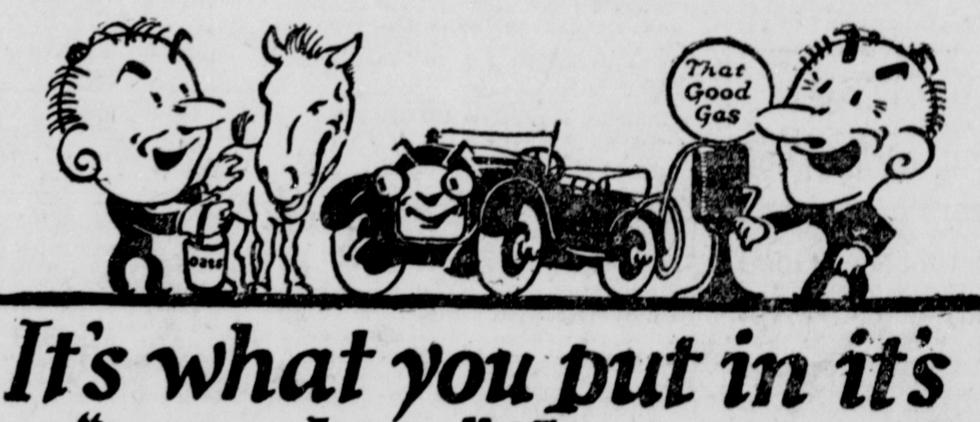

Tomorrow—Dick Beldon.
